Bartholdi's Great Statue is Unveiled
With Much Pomp at New York
City To-day.

New York, Oct. 28.—The rain storm, which prevailed all day yesterday, ceased last night, but the weather this morning was very unpromising for the festivities in connection with the inauguration of the Bartholdi statue. A slight fog hangs over the city and obscures in a measure the elaborate decorations of buildings, with which the city has been beautified.

The French and American flags are flying from house tops and windows in every direction. Business is almost entirely suspended, the public schools closed and all New York will join in the celebration. A handsome silk French flag was placed over the face of the statue, and at a word from President Cleveland it was drawn, unveiling the head of the Goddess. The land parade, which moved out at 9 o'clock, included between 25,000 and 35,000 men. The head column reached the battery about noon. The naval parade started at 12:45 p. m.

The president reached Bedloe's Island about 3 o'clock and the exercises commenced as soon as he reached his seat.

At 10 o'clock president Cleveland left Secretary Whitney's residence for the reviewing stand on Twenty fourth street and the procession followed, composed of the police, naval brigade, militia, French societies, governors and their staffs, various civil societies, Grand Army posts, Knights of Pythias of Indiana, Old Fellows and other organizations. The president reached the reviewing stand at 10:40, where was presented to him members of the French delegation. General Sheridan and staff was on the reviewing stand.

A signal gun announced the beginning of the ceremonies. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Richard Storer, and Count DeLespes delivered an address in behalf of the Franco-American union.

Senator Evans made the presentation address. The ceremony of unveiling the Statue of Liberty was followed by a salute from all the guns in the harbor.

President Cleveland formally accepted the statue and an address was then made by the representative of the republic of France, A. Lefevre. Then Chaney M. Depew delivered the commemorative address. "Old Hundred" was played by the band and the assembly joined in the singing.

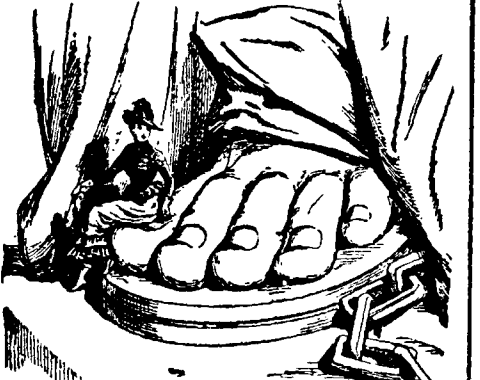

The doxology ceremonies closed with benediction by Rt. Rev. Henry Potter, D. D., assistant bishop of the diocese of New York.

A national salute was then fired simultaneously by all batteries in the harbor, aloft and ashore.

HISTORICAL.

It was in 1885 that Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, the now world famous sculptor, was dining with a number of men eminent in politics and letters at the home of the late M. Laboulaye, at Versailles, France. The talk drifted to international relations—the sentiment of the different countries for one another was discussed, when, coming to America, M. Laboulaye said: "That country has more sympathy for France than for any other European nation. This sentiment was based upon the remembrance of the community of thought and of struggles sustained with common aspirations. The Frenchmen who fought in the United States spilled their blood for the principles that they hoped to see prevail in France and in the world. The proof," he added, "is that in the United States they hold up to honor Lafayette and his volunteers as they revere the American heroes. No one there ever speaks of the treaty of Versailles, which made the United States what they are. On the other hand, every one recalls the names and deeds of the French soldiers. There," said Mr. Laboulaye, "is the basis the sentiments which are felt in the United States toward the French—an indelible bond, a sentiment honorable to the Americans as to us, and if a monument were to be built in America as a memorial to their independence, I should think it very natural if it were built by united effort—a common work of both nations." "During the Franco-Prussian war of 1870," said M. Bartholdi, "this conversation came back to me, and I thought at that time of the value of American sympathy during our scourging. After this war I again met M. Laboulaye. We talked once more of the sentiments of the United States, when he said 'You go see that country and propose to our friends over there that we together erect a monument in remembrance of the ancient friendship of France and the United States.' This is the origin of the Statue of Liberty, as related by the sculptor himself.

United States, first deciding on his arrival in New York harbor that the place for a monument such as he contemplated should be there at the portal of the republic. In 1871 the idea had taken sufficient shape to be publicly announced, and a committee was formed under the name of the French-American union to undertake the raising of subscriptions for the work. In 1876 a portion of the statue, the hand bearing the torch, was completed and sent to the Centennial exhibition at Philadelphia. In 1877 the act of congress accepting the statue as a gift from the French people was passed, and Bedloe's island, in New York harbor, was set apart as the place for its reception. In 1883 the statue was completed in Paris and work began on the great pedestal here. On July 4, 1884, the statue was formally accepted by Mr. Morton, the United States minister to France, and in June, 1885, the whole statue was taken apart and brought in 210 cases on board the French vessel Isere to New York harbor. Since that time the work has been pushed forward as rapidly as possible to make ready for the unveiling on Oct. 28, when visitors were permitted, for the first time, to inspect the work.

AT LIBERTY'S FOOT.

Somewhat of an idea of the size of the colossal figure may be gained from the comparison made by the artist in the accompanying accurate sketch. The links of the chain in the right of the picture are a portion of a broken shackle which Liberty has rent asunder, and is now trampling on.

From the darkened interior long lines of perforation may be seen in the copper sheathing which represent the unfilled rivet holes, and show what a tremendous amount of work remains to be done before the statue may be said to be complete. Such has been the haste with which the statue was put together that only sufficient rivets were put in to hold the copper sheets in place. Up through this labyrinthine interior a narrow wooden stairway leads to the head, passing through the neck in a spiral.

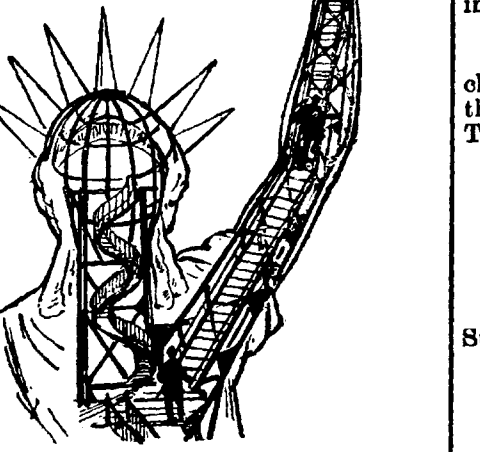

IN LIBERTY'S HEAD.

The head of the statue will hold comfortably forty persons. The coronet in the hair forms windows from which the ocean can be plainly seen on a clear day. New York harbor, with its myriad craft of all kinds and from all nations, lies as in a map underneath. The statue faces southeast, thereby turning her back on the state of New Jersey, and by a strange fate the nearest town in New Jersey immediately behind her is named Lafayette.

The pedestal was designed by Mr. Richard M. Hunt, and was built under the direction of Gen. Charles P. Stone, the eminent engineer, to whom it will remain a monument as substantial as are the pyramids of Egypt. The top of the pedestal is 149 feet 10 inches above the level of the water. The foundation for the pedestal measures 90 feet square at the bottom and is 32 feet 10 inches high, and is the largest solid block of concrete in the world. The pedestal proper is constructed of granite, with a concrete backing. In the center of the pedestal is a shaft 27 1/2 feet square, around which a substantial iron stairway leads to the statue.

To reach the torch from the head one is obliged to return by the spiral stairs to a platform underneath the arm, from which an iron ladder penetrates through the iron trusswork up to the torch and balcony around it.

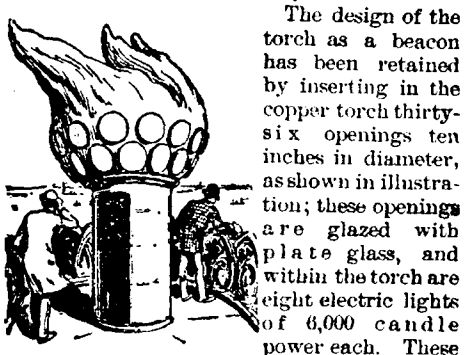

The accompanying engraving shows better than any number of words can convey the internal construction of this most difficult portion of the engineering work of the statue. It will be readily seen by the most unscientific observer that the problem of holding the mass of iron and copper composing this arm and torch was an unusually difficult one.

THE STAIRWAY IN THE HEAD AND ARM.

It is evident that the sculptor designed the figure and compelled the engineers to adapt ironwork to support it. If the arm had been carried in a more vertical line above the body it would have been much easier to secure it. This was brought to the writer's attention on the occasion of his visit to the torch. He noticed that the arm swayed quite perceptibly in the slight wind that was blowing. There was a dark skinned, black eyed workman putting some finishing touches to the torch. As he looked like a Frenchman it was supposed that he could understand sufficient English to answer a question, so I said: "I suppose you came from Paris to assist in putting the statue together?" "Bégonne, no." That settled the question of nationality, so I said more freely: "I should think you would have had some difficulty in deciphering the instructions in French on the different parts of the statue?" "They did send a couple of frog eaters across to show us how the stachew went together, but we soon found we knew a dom site more about it than they did, so they went home. We got one three-square sheet of copper left over, though, and none of us can tell where it goes."

THE TORCH.

The design of the torch as a beacon has been retained by inserting in the copper torch thirty-six openings ten inches in diameter, as shown in illustration; these openings are glazed with plate glass, and within the torch are eight electric lights of 6,000 candle power each. These lights will be the first seen by a vessel approaching New York from the sea, and will be a valuable guide to the mariner.

With the words of Bartholdi we close: "The statue was born for the place which inspired its conception. May God be pleased to bless my work, and long may it remain as an emblem of freedom and a monument of the good will and friendship existing between France and the United States of America."

A BAD WRECK!

Terrible Accident in which a Car Load of People are Killed or Burned.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 28.—The limited passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, which left here last night at 10 o'clock, was derailed at Yocum, and ran into and old stone quarry. One coach and three sleepers were wrecked and five or six persons killed. Physicians have left for the scene of the disaster.

Assistant General Manager Tucker says: "Our limited express ran into an open switch fifteen miles this side of Portage, Wis., last night. The baggage and mail coaches were demolished and so far as we know five people were killed. We do not know who they were. The mail caught fire and burned up. One sleeper was destroyed by fire."

B. Loebach, of this city, was on the wrecked train. He says the derailed passenger coach contained between fifteen and twenty persons. It was telescoped at both ends and the fire and smoke prevented the passengers from escaping. The passengers from the sleepers were powerless to render assistance. Only three persons escaped from the passenger car, a man and two children. The man forced his way through the ventilator on the top of the car, with all his clothing from the waist down burned off and the flesh burned and bleeding from cuts inflicted by the broken glass. All the bodies of the victims were burned in the wreck.

Engineer Hankey, of a freight train, which was standing on a sidetrack and whose crew neglected to turn the switch for the passing mail train, is responsible for the accident and was so affected that he fled to the woods.

Thirteen persons were pinned in the wreck and burned with it. Their names are not known.

CAPT. J. B. WHITE!

He is Not a Naturalized Citizen, Is Not Eligible to Congress, and a Vote for Him is One Thrown Away.

A Discovery Verified by the Court Records and a Conversation With Captain White.

It has been believed by a few persons for some time past, that Capt. J. B. White was not eligible to a seat in congress, because of the fact that he has never become a naturalized citizen of the United States. Publication of this statement has been delayed in order that a thorough examination of the records might be made in verification. This has been done. Not depending upon indexes the records have been carefully gone over leaf by leaf, and there is no entry naturalizing Captain White. Two proceedings are necessary to completely naturalize an alien and make him a citizen of the United States. One is to take out "first papers" as they are called and the other is the full and final admission to citizenship, which latter must be done in court and entered of record.

By section 2, article 1, of the constitution of the United States, it is provided as follows:

"No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen."

Captain White could only become a citizen of the United States by taking out his full naturalization papers, "second papers" as they are commonly called. This he has not done, as appears by the records of this county.

Naturalization papers admitting an alien to citizenship must not be confounded or confused with "first papers" or those declaring an intention to become a citizen. These, in Indiana allow one to vote, but do not make him a citizen. He must have been a citizen for seven years in order to be eligible to a seat in Congress. He can only be made a full citizen by complying fully with the law.

The law upon the subject of naturalization as applicable to Captain White's case is as follows (see Revised Statutes of the United States, 1878, p. 378, Revised Statutes of Indiana, section 5492):

"An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner, and not otherwise:

First. He shall declare on oath, before a circuit or district court of the United States, or a district or supreme court of the territories, or a court of record of any of the states having common law jurisdiction, and a seal and clerk, two years at least, prior to his admission that it is bonafide, his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty; and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court."

"Second. He shall, at the time of his application to be admitted, declare on oath before some one of the courts above specified, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he is absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty; and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court."

Captain White complied with the first provision above stated, but it does not appear that he has with the second. For admission to full citizenship the latter must be complied with.

An examination of the records shows that on July 24, 1858, he declared his intention." The following is the entry as it appears of record:

United States of America, State of Indiana, Allen County.

Be it known that on the 24th day of July, A. D., 1858, personally appeared in the Allen circuit court, before the clerk thereof, James B. White, an alien, and reports himself for naturalization, and being duly sworn on oath declares that he is a native of Scotland, aged twenty-three years, and owes allegiance to Queen Victoria; that he emigrated thence, embarked at Glasgow and arrived at New York, in the United States, on the 8th day of August, A. D., 1858, and that it is his bona fide intention to reside in and become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to every Foreign Prince, Potentate, State or Sovereignty whatever, and particularly to Queen Victoria.

Sworn and subscribed the 24th day of July, 1858. J. B. WHITE.

In testimony whereof I, I. D. G. Nelson, clerk of the Allen circuit court, hereunto set my name and affix the seal of said court, this 24th day of July, 1858. I. D. G. NELSON, Clerk.

Not desiring to do Captain White an injustice, a reporter of THE SENTINEL sought an interview with him to day before publishing the facts in order to ascertain whether he had any papers in his possession to show that he had been naturalized. He promptly said that he had not. It is due to him to say that he asserted that he felt sure that he had taken out the necessary papers. That it was done in this county and not in Kosciusko, where he had once lived and where the records have also been carefully searched. At the time of the interview the reporter had understood that the declaration of intention was made in that county. This was an error on his part. Captain White asserted that he had taken out final papers in 1857 or 1858 and that his first papers were taken out so that he could vote for Fremont in 1856. The records show that in this he was mistaken. He did not apply for his first papers until 1858, two years after Fremont ran. So if he voted for Fremont he did so illegally. Neither could he have taken out final papers in 1857 or 1858, because that could not be done until two years had elapsed, after taking first papers.

It is altogether certain, that Captain White, like thousands of others, only took out his first papers and as these allowed him to vote, paid no attention to and neglected full naturalization.

The cap in doubtless remembers taking out his first papers and that is all he did. He stated very frankly that it was a matter that he had not thought of nor given any attention.

It will appear from the foregoing that Captain White is ineligible to hold a seat in congress and that a vote cast for him will be a vote thrown away. He cannot hold the office. Naturalization can only be proven by the record of a court. The court must have acted. It can only do so by a record.

It is too late for Captain White to act now, as shown above he must have been a full citizen for seven years before he can be eligible as a candidate for congress.

Yesterday morning, Daniel Christian, who is the well known chicken fancier, filed in the Huntington circuit court a complaint against the proprietors of the Herald, charging them with libeling him, and injuring his reputation to the extent of $10,000, whereof, he asks for a judgment against them in the sum of $40,000 dollars and costs.

The complaint claims that the plaintiff was charged by them with perjury, embezzlement and bribery at a time when he was treasurer of Huntington county.

The plaintiff "fixes the day for the return of summons and appearance of defendants on the 3rd Monday of the October term, 1886," which will be on the 8th of November. Mr. Christian has been made a target for the Herald's abuse during this campaign, because of his democratic faith.

A. J. DEITRICK!

An Intelligent Farmer Who Supports an Honest Statement.

Editor of THE SENTINEL.—Last week I received a large envelope such as are used for deeds, at my post-office. The package was sealed, and a two cent stamp on. Before I opened it I thought it contained a deed, but I could not imagine who was kind enough to make me a deed for a farm without some kind of consideration. But when I opened the envelope, lo and behold it contained just one half sheet of the daily News of Oct. 5th, containing a column headed "An Insult to the Intelligence of Our Tax-payers," by the county treasurer and chairman of the democratic committee. The News says it is astonished that Charles McCulloch and John Dalman, should lend themselves to such a silly statement as that which appeared in THE SENTINEL and Journal concerning the county debt, as the statement bears its own commentary press it its entire.

To the Hon. Charles McCulloch: In compliance with your request to furnish a statement to the public of the condition of the treasury of Allen county, I hereby enclose such statement as shown by the books in my office at the close of business Sept. 30, 1886.

LIABILITIES.

County Bonds.....$200,000 00
Interest on bonds up to
October 1.....2,500 00
County orders afloat Oct. 1.....325 65

Total indebtedness.....$202,825 65

ASSETS FOR COUNTY PURPOSES.

Amount of cash on hand October 1.....$ 40,841 59
Adams county order Richard trial.....4,978 41
Interest on Adams county order to October 1.....50 00
Two instalments due from May settlement.....74,077 54
Delinquent tax due and unpaid.....38,989 04

Total assets.....$159,656 90
Liabilities over assets.....43,167 05

Now, it appears that Charles McCulloch requested Mr. John Dalman, to make a public statement of the condition of the treasury of Allen county, a matter that every tax payer is interested in and that request was an honorable one on the part of Mr. McCulloch. Now it appears that Mr. Dalman made a statement, a fair statement and just such a one as his books showed. How could he have made a different statement to make a correct one? Mr. Dalman shows liabilities and assets all on one date, but how is that statement received by the News. It says: "Now, gentlemen, in causing that statement to be published do you not willingly and knowingly attempt to hoodwink and mislead the public." The News says: "Have you any right to count the $39,000 as assets." Certainly he has. It belongs to the county and is past due. Now for an illustration. Suppose Mr. Page or Mr. Taylor would come to me and ask me to tell him just the true conditions of my financial affairs. Well I will just tell you the plain truth. First, say my liabilities are:

Hamilton bank.....$10,000 00
Interest now due on the $10,000.....500 00
First National bank.....500 00

Total Liabilities.....$11,000 00

For assets, my farm is worth at a fair sale.....$5,000 00
My stock and grain.....1,500 00
Cash on hand.....500 00
One note due.....500 00

Total assets.....$7,500 00

Liabilities over assets.....$3,500 00

Now is this not a fair statement. John Dalman made just such a statement. He did not say that he could pay the $200,000 and only they owe $43,000. He was not asked to make such a statement.

Mr. Dalman knows as well as the daily News, that the current expenses will use up considerable of the $40,000 and considerable of the installment now due, and also of the delinquent tax before the first installment of tax becomes due for 1886. When Mr. Dalman said the liabilities were only $43,000 over assets, he did not say that $160,000 of the bonded debt had been paid within the last year. The News wants to know why we pay $10,000 interest annually, if we owe only $43,000. The News knows that there has nothing been applied on that bonded debt of $200,000 as yet.

I must now close this. I have not heard of any man being insulted by Mr. Dalman's statement. How could a man take offense at a fair and honorable statement.

FACTS FOR VOTERS.

Hon. Charles McCulloch Makes an Honest and Masterly Statement of County Affairs.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL.

Nothing more completely baffles trickery and deception than a straightforward statement of facts. I believe that the taxpayers of Allen county and the city of Fort Wayne are honest, intelligent men, not easily bamboozled or deceived. Living in the noonday of time, they read and think and the editors of republican papers in this city will find that the triumph of truth and reason are greater than those of misrepresentation. Slander cannot make a subject either better or worse and in the long run it acts like a boomerang upon the party that resorts to it. The true and concise statement of our county affairs, made by our county treasurer, is all that is necessary to puncture the false statements of republican newspapers, and it will be published often enough for every man in the county to read it and these pretended reformers will find that "truth is mighty and will prevail."

The statement shows that the commissioners did issue $200,000 of bonds, and they bear five per cent interest, but the premium they brought, of $4,000, brings the rate of interest to about 4 1/2 per cent or less. They did this to pay off every county order that drew 6 per cent, and to give them money enough to keep the county for the future on a cash basis and at the same time not to stint in the necessary expenses of a thriving county. Several years ago, about the time Mr. Rudisill was auditor, a large number of wooden bridges, on pile foundations, were built within a period of four years. Everyone knows what kind of bridges they were from the one at Rudisill's mill and Muldoon's dam. During the last four years these bridges have had to be rebuilt or repaired at a cost of over $150,000, and in order to verify my statement I give figures of cost and location of bridges, and this will tell why for four years past the expenditures of the county have been heavy:

Some more have yet to be built, but the work is principally done for many years to come. Allen county is the largest county in the state and has more bridges to build and keep up than any other county. She is second in wealth and manufacturing interests and had it not been for the necessary expenses above mentioned she would not have run behind one dollar. THE PEOPLE BELIEVE IN GOOD ROADS, SAFE BRIDGES, WELL MANAGED PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS, LIBERAL EXPENDITURES FOR HOSPITALS AND THE POOR.

The hospital and poor expenses alone from June 1, 1885, to June 1, 1886, were as follows, according to the report of Auditor Griebel:

Poor orders by township trustees.....	$22,821 00
Medicine.....	968 20

Viewing the great improvements and charities we can point with pride to our county and the paltry debt that is shown in the statement of the county treasurer is so straightforward and plainly legitimate that people never give it a moment's critical consideration. There has been no stealing. Men like William Bryant, Jerome Gloyd, Henry Hartman, Louis Griebel, Willis Maier, John Dalmann, Judge Hench, Judge O'Rourke don't steal. Newspapers are the only accusers that dare say they do. Individually not one of the gentlemen who edit those papers would say so. The democratic and republican platforms both agreed that one term in a four year county office was long enough. With that idea prominent the present democratic county ticket was nominated and as Mr. P. S. O'Rourke said to me a few days ago, "it is as good a ticket as was ever nominated in Allen county," and Mr. O'Rourke is a close observer and always says exactly what he means. He also said that he had known Mr. Niezer from his boyhood, and that he was the soul of honor. The laws that regulate the county officials in the banner democratic county of Allen regulates them in republican counties. Allen county's prosperity and growth has been wonderful within the past few years, and the workmen who are building homes faster than ever all over our beautiful city, still have confidence in our public servants in spite of the attempts of newspaper gentlemen at each election to deceive them.

Respectfully,
 CHARLES MCCULLOCH.

The First Keen Twinge.
 As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

IS THIS THE REFORM THEY TALK ABOUT?
 (Proceedings of the Republican County Convention taken Verbatim from the G. Zette.)

Mr. Baltes was declared the nominee and made a short speech:
 "MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN:—I have not been seeking this office, but as you have been so liberal as to give me a majority on the first ballot, I am very thankful, and shall work again as I did four years ago, when I paid $1,200 and didn't get the office, even if it costs me another $1,200 to get into this court house. All I ask is that these delegates do the fair thing, and at the fall election be at the polls and vote the whole ticket through from top to bottom, [a voice, "We'll do it!"] and there is no doubt but we'll carry Allen county. [Cheers.]"

Beware now of the sudden changes of weather and prepare for it. Dr. Preston, Arthur Guinness, F. R. C. S. of England, and a thousand others say they "have prescribed Pond's Extract with the greatest success," internally and externally, for Colds, Sore Throats, Neuralgia, and all kinds of inflammation and Rheumatism. Like other good things Pond's Extract has been imitated. Avoid such worthless imitations.

For the relief and cure of inflammation and congestion called "a cold in the head" there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in any thing else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other modes of treatment have proved of no avail.

A TRIBUTE.

Meeting of the Editors of the City Newspapers.

(Gazette.)

Pursuant to call published in yesterday morning's Gazette the publishers, editors, city editors, and reporters of the Fort Wayne newspapers assembled at the Gazette office last evening to pay to the memory of David S. Keil esq., some tribute to his worth.

There were present at the meeting Messrs. E. A. K. Hackett, W. D. Page, Sam Miller, C. F. Taylor, I. B. McDonald, Chas. D. Tillo, Henry E. Fisher, B. M. Holman, Gart. Shober, James Mitchell, A. J. Moynihan, W. E. McDermutt, Frank Dildine, W. P. Cooper and Eph Moffatt, the latter editor of the Decatur Journal, Mr. T. P. Keator was unavoidably out of the city.

Mr. E. A. K. Hackett, editor of and publisher of THE SENTINEL, was elected president of the meeting.

In assuming the chair, Mr. Hackett paid a graceful tribute to the memory of his departed friend.

On motion, a committee on resolutions was appointed, which, after consultation reported as follows:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, David S. Keil, esq., a citizen of Fort Wayne, a soldier of conspicuous fidelity to the nation, a journalist of wide repute among the profession and a christian gentleman, whom to know was to admire therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, representing the fraternity of journalism in this city, declare that in the death of Mr. Keil, the profession which he so much loved and which he so highly adorned, has lost one of its most worthy members. We have known, probably, better than most of his friends, of the untiring energy and the unflinching trust in things that were of good repute that this man had. He belonged to a school of journalism which was proud of his existence because it exercised an unselfish concern over affairs, political and social, for their betterment only, looking not for personal aggrandizement

Resolved, That his stainless life should be an example worthy of the emulation of all young men. He began at the plow and followed with credit to himself and his friends, the various pursuits of farmer, teacher, soldier and editor. He was a thrifty plow boy and while sowing his seeds was founding a character which men came in after years to admire. He was a sagacious preceptor and trained the minds of his students to love the good and despise evil. He was a brave soldier and never faltered when his country needed his services. He was an honest, enterprising business man who built a monument of mercantile thrift that shall live long after him. He was an editor, bold because of the purity and strength of his convictions and unfaltering in his allegiance to those principles that he believed to be right.

Resolved, That we extend to the disconsolate widow our sincerest sympathy, well knowing that no words of ours can assuage her deep grief. Her husband was our friend, our companion, one whom we most beloved, and the memory of our association with him will be to us a treasure beyond price;

Resolved, That we attend his funeral in a body; and

Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the newspapers of Fort Wayne and the secretary be instructed to furnish Mrs. Keil with a copy.

(Signed)

W. P. Cooper, Sam Miller, W. D. Page, E. A. K. Hackett, Eph. Moffatt, (Decatur Journal), Charles D. Tillo, Henry E. Fisher, B. M. Holman, Gart. Shober, James Mitchell, W. E. McDermutt, Andrew J. Moynihan and Frank Dildine, committee.

It becoming known to the meeting that Mrs. Keil desired the pall-bearers to be from among the journalists of the city, the chairman named the following gentlemen to act in that capacity: B. M. Holman, T. P. Keator, W. D. Page, Sam Miller, C. F. Taylor, Charles D. Tillo, John D. Sarnighausen, E. A. K. Hackett and I. B. McDonald.

On motion of W. D. Page, an invitation was extended to all publishers, editors, printers and newspaper employes to attend the funeral, which will occur this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the family residence at the northeast corner of Berry and Clay streets.

Messrs. B. M. Holman, Sam Miller and James Mitchell were then appointed to confer with Wayne lodge No. 25, F. and A. M., concerning details of the funeral.

It was stated that the services would be conducted by Dr. D. W. Moffat, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. H. McFarland.

Bartholdi's Great Statue is Unveiled
With Much Pomp at New York
City To-day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The rain storm, which prevailed all day yesterday, cleared last night, but the weather this morning was very unpromising for the festivities in connection with the inauguration of the Bartholdi statue. A slight fog hangs over the city and obscures in a measure the elaborate decorations of buildings, with which the city has been beautified.

The French and American flags are flying from house tops and windows in every direction. Business is almost entirely suspended, the public schools closed and all New York will join in the celebration. A handsome silk French flag was placed over the face of the statue, and at a word from President Cleveland it was drawn, unveiling the head of the Goddess. The land parade, which moved out at 9 o'clock, included between 25,000 and 30,000 men. The head column reached the battery about noon. The naval parade started at 12:45 p. m.

The president reached Bodloe Island about 3 o'clock and the exercises commenced as soon as he reached his seat.

At 10 o'clock President Cleveland left Secretary Whitney's residence for the reviewing stand on Twenty-fourth street and the procession followed, composed of the police, naval brigade, militia, French societies, governors and their staffs, various civil societies, Grand Army posts, Knights of Pythias of Indiana, Old Fellows and other organizations. The president reached the reviewing stand at 10:40, where was waiting to him members of the French delegation, General Sheridan and staff was on the reviewing stand.

A signal gun announced the beginning of the ceremonies. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Richard Stokes, and Count DeLespays delivered an address in behalf of the Franco-American union. Senator Evans made the presentation address. The ceremony of unveiling the Statue of Liberty was followed by a salute from all the guns in the harbor.

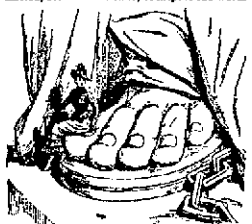

President Cleveland formally accepted the statue and an address was then made by the representative of the republic of France, A. Lefevre. Then Chauncey M. Depew delivered the commemorative address. "Old Hindrot" was played by the band and the assembly joined in the singing.

The doxology ceremonies closed with benediction by Rt. Rev. Henry Potter, D. D., assistant bishop of the diocese of New York.

A national salute was then fired simultaneously by all batteries in the harbor, aloft and ashore.

HISTORICAL.
It was in 1885 that Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, the now world famous sculptor, was dining with a number of men eminent in politics and letters at the home of the late M. Laboulaye, at Versailles, France. The talk drifted to international relations—the sentiment of the different countries for one another was discussed, when, coming to America, M. Laboulaye said: "That country has more sympathy for France than for any other European nation. This sentiment was based upon the remembrance of the community of thought and of struggles sustained with common aspirations. The Frenchman who fought in the United States espoused their ideal for the principles that they loved to see prevail in France and in the world. The people," he added, "in the United States they look up to honor Lafayette and his volunteers as they revere the American heroes. No one there ever speaks the words of Versailles, which make the United States what they are. On the other hand, every one recalls the names and deeds of the French soldiers. There," said M. Laboulaye, "is the best of the sentiment toward the Frenchman in the United States, and it is the sentiment that has made the Statue of Liberty." "This is the origin of the Statue of Liberty," he related by the sculptor himself.

United States, first deciding on his arrival in New York harbor that the place for a monument such as he contemplated should be there of the port of the republic. In 1874 the idea had taken sufficient shape to be publicly announced, and a committee was formed under the name of the French-American union to undertake the raising of subscriptions for the work. In 1876 a portion of the statue, the hand bearing the torch, was completed and sent to the Centennial exhibition at Philadelphia. In 1877 the act of Congress accepting the statue as a gift from the French people was passed, and Bodloe Island, in New York harbor, was set apart as the place for its reception. In 1883 the statue was completed in Paris and work began on the great pedestal here. On July 4, 1884, the statue was formally accepted by Mr. Morton, the United States minister to France, and in June, 1885, the whole statue was taken apart and brought in 210 cases on board the French vessel here to New York harbor. Since that time the work has been pushed forward as rapidly as possible to make ready for the unveiling on the first time, to inspect the work.

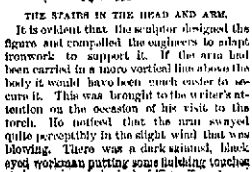

AT LIBERTY'S FOOT.
Somewhat of an idea of the size of the colossal figure may be gained from the comparison made by the artist in the accompanying sketch. The links of the chain in the right of the picture are a portion of a broken shackle which Liberty has rent asunder, and is now trampling on.

AT LIBERTY'S HEAD.
The head of the statue will stand comfortably forty persons. The corner in the half frame windows from which the ocean can be plainly seen on a clear day. New York harbor, with its myriad craft of all kinds from all nations, lies in a waywardly.

The statue, from its pedestal, thereby turning her back to the state of New Jersey, and by a strange fate the nearest town in New Jersey immediately behind her is named Lafayette. The pedestal was designed by Mr. Richard M. Hunt and was built under the direction of Gen. Charles F. Smith, the eminent engineer, to whom it will remain a monument as substantial as the pyramids of Egypt. The top of the pedestal is 149 feet 11 inches above the level of the water. The foundation for the pedestal assumes 99 feet square at the bottom and 62 feet 11 inches at the top, and is the largest solid block of concrete in the world. The pedestal is constructed of granite, with a concrete backing. In the center of the pedestal is a shaft 2 3/4 feet square, around which a substantial iron stair way leads to the statue.

To reach the torch from the head one is obliged to return by the spiral stairs to a platform underneath the arm, from which an iron ladder penetrates through the iron trusswork up to the torch and balcony around it. The accompanying engraving shows better than any number of words can convey the internal construction of this most difficult portion of the engineering work of the statue. It will be readily seen by the mind unaccustomed observer that the problem of lifting the mass of iron and copper composing this arm and torch is an unusually difficult one.

to the torch. As he looked like a Frenchman it was supposed that he could understand sufficient English to answer a question, so I said: "I suppose you came from Paris to assist in putting the statue together?" "Bonne nuit," said the man. "I should think you would have had some difficulty in deciphering the instructions in French on the different parts of the statue." "They did not give me a couple of francs across to show us how the statue went together, but we soon found out how to do it. We got one of the men who had been working on the statue, and he told us what to do. We got it done in a few days."

Further questioning my "French" friend, I learned that in a gale of wind the arm swung considerably, and with a knowing shake of the head he declared the opinion that should a "storm" ever visit the statue, the arm would likely have to go down for the torch in the waters of the bay.

The design of the torch as a beacon has been retained by inserting in the copper torch thirty-six openings in diameter, as shown in illustration. These openings are guarded with plate glass, and within the torch are eight electric lights of 1,000 candle power each.

The lights will be the first seen by the first man to approach New York from the sea, and will be a valuable guide to the mariner.

With the words of Bartholdi we close: "A statue was born for the times which she should inspire, and long may it remain as an emblem of freedom and a monument of the good will and friendship existing between France and the United States of America."

A BAD WRECK!

Dreadful Accident in which a Car Load of People are Killed or Burned.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 28.—The limited passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, which left here last night at 10 o'clock, was derailed at Yocco, and ran into and destroyed a quarry. One coach and three sleepers were wrecked and five or six persons killed. Physicians have left for the scene of the disaster.

Assistant General Manager Tucker says: "Our limited express ran into an open switch fifteen miles this side of Portage, Wis., last night. The baggage and mail coaches were demolished and so far as we know five people were killed. We do not know who they were. The mail caught fire and burned up. One sleeper was destroyed by fire."

B. Leimbach, of this city, was on the wrecked train. He says the derailed passenger coach contained between fifteen and twenty persons. It was telescoped at both ends and the fire and smoke prevented the passengers from escaping. The passengers from the sleepers were powerless to render assistance. Only three persons escaped from the passenger car, a man and two children. The man forced his way through the ventilator on the top of the car, with all his clothing from the waist down burned off and the flesh burned and bleeding from cuts inflicted by the broken glass. All the bodies of the victims were burned in the wreck.

Engineer Hanky, of a freight train, which was standing on a sidetrack and whose crew neglected to turn the switch for the passing mail train, is responsible for the accident and was so affected that he fled to the woods.

Thirteen persons were pinned in the wreck and burned with it. Their names are not known.

CAPT. J. B. WHITE!

He is Not a Naturalized Citizen, Is Not Eligible to Congress, and a Vote for Him is One Thrown Away.

A Discovery Verified by the Court Records and a Conversation With Captain White.

It has been believed by a few persons for some time past, that Capt. J. B. White was not eligible to a seat in congress, because of the fact that he has never become a naturalized citizen of the United States. Publication of this statement has been delayed in order that a thorough examination of the records might be made in verification. This has been done. Not depending upon indexes the records have been carefully gone over leaf by leaf, and there is no entry naturalizing Captain White. Two provisions are necessary to completely naturalize an alien and make him a citizen of the United States. One is to take out "first papers" as they are called, and the other is the full and final admission to citizenship, which latter must be done in court and entered of record.

By section 2, article 1, of the constitution of the United States, it is provided as follows:

"No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, have an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen."

Captain White could only become a citizen of the United States by taking out his full naturalization papers, "second papers" as they are commonly called. This he has not done, as appears by the records of this county.

Naturalization papers admitting an alien to citizenship must not be founded or confirmed with "first papers" or those declaring an intention to become a citizen. These, in Indiana, allow one to vote, but do not make him a citizen. He must have been a citizen for seven years in order to be eligible to a seat in Congress. He can only be made a full citizen by complying fully with the law.

The law upon the subject of naturalization as applicable to Captain White's case is as follows (see Revised Statutes of the United States, 1878, p. 378, Revised Statutes of Indiana, section 5492):

"An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner, and not otherwise:

First. He shall declare on oath, before a circuit or district court of the United States, or a district or any court of the territories, or a court of record of any of the states having common law jurisdiction, and a seal and clerk, two years at least, prior to his admission that it is his intention, his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject, which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court."

"Second. He shall, at the time of his application to be admitted, declare on oath before some one of the courts above specified, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and particularly by name to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject, which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court."

Captain White complied with the first provision above stated, but it does not appear that he has with the second. For admission to full citizenship the latter must be complied with.

An examination of the records shows that on July 24, 1859, he "declared his intention." The following is the entry as it appears of record:

United States of America,
State of Indiana, Allen County.

Be it known that on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1859, personally appeared in the Allen circuit court, before the clerk thereof, James B. White, an alien, and reports himself for naturalization, and being duly sworn on oath declares that he is a native of Scotland, aged twenty-three years, and owes allegiance to Queen Victoria; that he emigrated thence, embarked at Glasgow and arrived at New York, in the United States, on the 8th day of August, A. D. 1858, and that it is his bona fide intention to reside in and become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to every For-sign Prince, Potentate, State or Sovereignty whatever, and particularly to Queen Victoria.

By order and subscribed the 24th day of July, 1859. J. B. White.

In testimony whereof, I, D. G. Nelson, clerk of the Allen circuit court, hereunto set my name and affix the seal of said court, this 24th day of July, 1859.

Not desiring to do Captain White an injustice, a reporter of The SENTINEL sought an interview with him to day before publishing the facts in order to ascertain whether he had any papers in his possession to show that he had been naturalized. He promptly said that he had not. It is due to him to say that he asserted that he felt sure that he had taken out the necessary papers. That it was done in this county and not in Koscusko, where he had once lived and where the records have also been carefully searched. At the time of the interview the reporter had understood that the declaration of intention was made in that county. This was an error on his part. Captain White asserted that he had taken out final papers in 1857 or 1858 and that his first papers were taken out so that he could vote for Fremont in 1856. The records show that in this he was mistaken. He did not apply for his first papers until 1858, two years after Fremont ran. So if he voted for Fremont he did so illegally. Neither could he have taken out final papers in 1857 or 1858, because that could not be done until two years had elapsed, after taking first papers.

It is altogether certain, that Captain White, like thousands of others, only took out his first papers and as these allowed him to vote, paid no attention to and neglected full naturalization.

The cap in doubtless remembers taking out his first papers and that is all he did. He stated very frankly that it was a matter that he had not thought of nor given any attention.

It will appear from the foregoing that Captain White is ineligible to hold a seat in congress and that a vote cast for him will be a vote thrown away. He cannot hold the office. Naturalization can only be proven by the record of a court. The court must have acted. It can only do so by a record.

It is too late for Captain White to not now, as shown above he must have been a full citizen for seven years before he can be eligible as a candidate for congress.

Daniel Christian Sues the Huntington Herald for Libel and Damages.

Yesterday morning, Daniel Christian, who is the well known old fashioned, died in the Huntington circuit court a complaint against the proprietors of the Herald, charging them with libeling him, and injuring his reputation to the extent of $10,000, whereof, he asks for a judgment against them in the sum of $40,000 dollars and costs.

"The complaint claims that the plaintiff was charged by them with perjury, embezzlement and bribery at a time when he was treasurer of Huntington county."

The plaintiff "bears the day for the return of summons and appearance of defendants on the 3rd Monday of the October term, 1886," which will be on the 8th of November. Mr. Christian has been made a target for the Herald's abuse during this campaign, because of his democratic faith.

A. J. DEITRICK!

An Intelligent Farmer Who Supports an Honest Government.

Editor of The SENTINEL.—Last week I received a large envelope such as are used for deeds, at my post-office. The package was sealed, and a two cent stamp on. Before I opened it I thought it contained a deed, but I could not imagine who was kind enough to make me a deed for a farm without some kind of consideration. But when I opened the envelope, lo and behold it contained just one half sheet of the daily News of Oct. 5th, containing a column headed "An Inmate to the Intelligence of Our Tax-payers," by the county treasurer and chairman of the democratic committee. The News says it is astonished that Charles McCulloch and John Dalman, should lend themselves to such a silly statement as that which appeared in The SENTINEL and Journal concerning the county debt, as the statement bears its own commentary present at its origin.

To the Hon. Charles McCulloch: In compliance with your request to furnish a statement to the public of the condition of the treasury of Allen county, I hereby enclose such statement as shown by the books in my office at the close of business Sept. 30, 1886.

LIABILITIES.
County Bonds..... $200,000 00
Interest on bonds up to
October 1..... 2,500 00
County orders issued Oct. 1..... 223 15
Total indebtedness..... $202,723 15

ASSETS FOR COUNTY PURPOSES.
Amount of cash on hand October 1..... $ 4,841 59
Adams county order held in
Allen county..... 4,978 41
Interest on Adams county
order to October 1..... 50 00
Two last months due from
May settlement..... 74,077 54
Delinquent tax due and unpaid..... 38,959 04

Total assets..... $130,856 59
Liabilities over assets..... $5,107 05

Now, it appears that Charles McCulloch requested Mr. John Dalman, to make a public statement of the condition of the treasury of Allen county, a matter that every tax payer is interested in and that request was an honorable one on the part of Mr. McCulloch. Now it appears that Mr. Dalman made a statement, a fair statement and just such a one as the books showed. How could he have made a different statement to make a correct one? Mr. Dalman shows liabilities and assets all on one date, but how is that statement received by the News. It says: "Now, gentlemen, in causing that statement to be published do you not willingly and knowingly attempt to hoodwink and mislead the public." The News says: "Have you any right to count the $39,000 as assets?" Certainly he has. It belongs to the county and is paid due. Now for an illustration. Suppose Mr. Page or Mr. Taylor would come to me and ask me to tell him just the true condition of my financial affairs. Well I will just tell you the plain truth. First, say my liabilities are:

Huntington bank..... $10,000 00
Interest now due on the $10,000..... 500 00
First National bank..... 500 00

Total liabilities..... $11,000 00
For assets, my farm is worth at a fair value..... $5,000 00
My stock and grain..... 1,500 00
Cash on hand..... 500 00
One note due..... 500 00

Total assets..... $7,500 00
Liabilities over assets..... $3,500 00

Now is this not a fair statement. John Dalman made just such a statement. He did not say that he could pay the $200,000 and only they owe $13,000. He was not asked to make such a statement.

Mr. Dalman knows as well as the daily News, that the current expenses will use up considerable of the $10,000 and considerable of the delinquent tax due, and also of the delinquent tax before the first installment of tax becomes due for 1888. When Mr. Dalman said the liabilities were only $13,000 over assets, he did not say that $10,000 of the bonded debt had been paid within the last year. The News wants to know why we pay $10,000 interest annually, if we owe only $13,000. The News knows that there has nothing been applied on that bonded debt of $200,000 as yet.

I must now close this. I have not heard of any man being libeled by Mr. Dalman's statement. How could a man take offense at a fair and honorable statement. A. J. DEITRICK.

A TRIBUTE.

Meeting of the Editors of the City Newspapers.

(Gazette.)

Pursuant to call published in yesterday morning's Gazette the publishers, editors, city editors, and reporters of the Fort Wayne newspapers assembled at the Gazette office last evening to pay to the memory of David S. Keil esq., some tribute to his worth.

There were present at the meeting Messrs. R. A. K. Hackett, W. D. Page, Sam Miller, C. F. Taylor, I. B. McDonald, Chas. D. Tillo, Henry E. Fisher, B. M. Holman, Gert. Shober, James Mitchell, A. J. Moynihan, W. E. McDermott, Frank Dilline, W. P. Cooper and Eph. Moffat, the latter editor of the Decatur Journal. Mr. T. P. Keator was unavoidably out of the city.

Mr. E. A. K. Hackett, editor of and publisher of The Sentinel, was elected president of the meeting.

In assuming the chair, Mr. Hackett paid a graceful tribute to the memory of his departed friend.

On motion, a committee on resolutions was appointed, which, after consultation reported as follows:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, David S. Keil, esq., a citizen of Fort Wayne, a soldier of conspicuous fidelity to the nation, a journalist of wide repute among the profession and a Christian gentleman, whom to know was to admire therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, representing the fraternity of journalism in this city, declare that in the death of Mr. Keil, the profession which he so much loved and which he so highly adorned, has lost one of its most worthy members.

We have known, probably, better than most of his friends, of the untiring energy and the unflinching trust in things that were of good repute that this man had. He belonged to a school of journalism which was proud of his exalted position.

Resolved, That his stainless life should be an example worthy of emulation of all young men. He began at the plow and followed with credit to himself and his friends, the various pursuits of farmer, teacher, soldier and editor. He was a thrifty plow boy and while sowing his seeds was founding a character which men came in after years to admire. He was a sagacious preceptor and trained the minds of his students to love the good and despise evil. He was a brave soldier and never flinched when his country needed his services. He was an honest, enterprising business man who built a monument of mercantile thrift that shall live long after him. He was an editor, bold because of the purity and strength of his convictions and unfaltering in his allegiance to those principles that he believed to be right.

Resolved, That we extend to the disconsolate widow our sincerest sympathy, well knowing that no words of ours can assuage her deep grief. Her husband was our friend, our companion, one whom we must beloved, and the memory of our association with him will be to us a treasure beyond price.

Resolved, That we attend his funeral in a body; and

Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the newspapers of Fort Wayne and the secretary be instructed to furnish Mr. Keil with a copy.

(Signed)

W. P. Cooper, Sam Miller, W. D. Page, E. A. K. Hackett, Eph. Moffat, (Decatur Journal), Charles D. Tillo, Henry E. Fisher, B. M. Holman, Gert. Shober, James Mitchell, W. E. McDermott, Andrew J. Moynihan and Frank Dilline, committee.

It becoming known to the meeting that Mr. Keil desired the pall-bearers to be from among the journalists of the city, the chairman named the following gentlemen to act in that capacity: B. M. Holman, T. P. Keator, W. D. Page, Sam Miller, C. F. Taylor, Charles D. Tillo, John D. Sarnighausen, R. A. K. Hackett and I. B. McDonald.

On motion of W. D. Page, an invitation was extended to all publishers, editors, printers and newspaper employes to attend the funeral, which will occur this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the family residence at the northeast corner of Berry and Clay streets.

Messrs. B. M. Holman, Sam Miller and James Mitchell were then appointed to confer with Wayne lodge No. 25, F. and A. M., concerning details of the funeral.

It was stated that the services would be conducted by Dr. D. W. Moffat, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. H. McFarland.

Messrs. H. E. Fisher, Charles D. Tillo, Gert. Shober and A. J. Moynihan were appointed a committee on carriages. The meeting thereupon adjourned.
